HOW ELi works

Strategic dialogues are translated into key deliverables for workforce development and staff engagement based on well-being and system performance.

ELi is designed to influence organisational and cultural change for new models of care delivered by frontline teams with management support, to achieve high quality, easily accessible, sustainable services within large scale and devolved complex health systems.

ELi transforms

Being at its core a multi-faceted system transformation and management skills programme, ELi informs board level critical decision-making for executive assurance and challenge across organisational lines of communication and accountability. In addition, organisations are offered the opportunity to succession plan and to meet the opportunities and challenges of managing inclusion through well-led teams at all levels.

ELi inspires

ELi encompasses executive coaching and mentoring for developing leadership and organisational capability at all levels.
